NUTRITION AT ITS PEAK:

*Making a Great Program
Even Better!*

26th CCFP ROUNDTABLE CONFERENCE

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the 26th Annual Child Care Food Program (CCFP) Roundtable Conference! After last year's gala Silver Anniversary celebration, this year's Summit will provide an intensive focus on the new CACFP Meal Pattern. As you know, the new Rule implemented on October 1, 2017, but a transition period allows sponsors and providers to adjust to the updated requirements in the first year of implementation without having fiscal actions imposed or being found seriously deficient.

We'll help you really get on top of the details with a comprehensive and in-depth look at the new rules. State and federal experts will be on hand to clarify and answer all your questions. You'll have a chance to catch up with new research on the power of CACFP to improve health outcomes in early childhood, and take advantage of amazing new tools and resources that have been developed to make this historic rollout really work for the nation's youngest children.

Take advantage of the next three days here to build new CACFP relationships with USDA and State agency staff, sponsors and exhibitors, and expert presenters. Network with other providers in the field and with fellow Roundtable members and supporters. Take some time to relax and recharge in a beautiful setting so you can go back down the hill and make a great program even better!

Have a great Conference,
The CCFP Roundtable Advisory Committee
Laurie True and Samantha Marshall, Roundtable Staff

Focus on CHANGE:
*Everything you need to know about the
New Meal Pattern
Rollout!*

Thank You!

We couldn't do this without your support!

We'd like to extend our deep appreciation to USDA Food and Nutrition Services for all of their hard work and assistance in planning this event. We are also extremely grateful to the California Department Education Nutrition Services Division for their ongoing support and close collaboration.

A big "Thank You" also to CDPH's Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Program and Minute Menu Systems for your generous sponsorship support, and to California Food Policy Advocates, our fiscal agent, for your administrative support and leadership.

Behind the scenes, we rely on amazing volunteer support from the CACFP Staff of Options for Children, Child Nutrition Program of Southern California, Coco Kids, CDA of San Diego, CDI/ Choices for Children, FRAMAX, Ventura Child Care Food Program and Family Resource and Referral and many others.

Chris Clark maintained our Blog and Social Media postings and curated the New Meal Pattern Library – a national treasure and a labor of love. Thanks, Chris!

Motivating Movement in Your Child Care Environment

Physical activity and nutrition go hand-in-hand like peanut butter and jelly. Within our agency's wellness policy, physical activity is a key component and our mantra is, "Eat Fresh, Play Hard, Have Fun!" This workshop will be interactive and lively and will provide physical activity and active play concepts for school age children along with modifications to make it appropriate for preschool as well. Coming from an agency that sponsors before and after school child care as well as preschool, this program is applicable for all audiences. Participants will become familiar with our "30 Fit" curriculum and be able to share best practices and challenges regarding getting your children and teachers up and moving. Grab some water and join the fun!

New Meal Plan Meets Old Feeding Challenges:

Practical Ways to Promote Healthy Eating Among Older Infants and Toddlers

Speaker: Jane Heinig, PhD, IBCLC, UC Davis

What are moms saying about feeding older babies and toddlers? What do staff in Child Care know or believe about feeding this age group? Building on the success of “Baby Behavior” training and education project, the UC Davis Human Lactation Center partnered with the California WIC Program to expand these interventions beyond early infancy. The recently completed project addresses the needs of caregivers of older infants (7-12 months of age) and toddlers (to 18 months of age). Designed to promote positive parent-child interaction and healthy feeding practices, the expanded campaign focuses on preventing or avoiding feeding behaviors that are strongly associated with child overweight and obesity.

How can we translate this new approach into healthy feeding behaviors that can last a lifetime? Most importantly, can we leverage it during the rollout of the CACFP New Meal Pattern to maximize impact?

Developing Nutrition and Food Safety Policies

This thoughtful interactive session will focus on developing Nutrition and Food safety policies and give you an opportunity to develop or enhance your current policies. Having written policies helps assure consistency in program implementation. Well thought out, policies protect everyone in care as well as the facility. Policies help set the expectation for staff and families and help prevent issues before they start. This session will share strategies for policy development for food safety such as, proper food storage, dating of food and food temperatures to help keep everyone safe.. Policies for allergies, food intolerances and parent preferences to help guard against any unfortunate food accidents. Kitchen safety policies protect the cook from accidents. Nutrition policies ensure you have a solid base on how you will provide nutritious meals for those in your care.

Brand New Results from a California Survey of Childcare Foods and Practices Before the New Standards

What foods and beverages are currently served to children 1-5 years old in licensed childcare before implementation of the new Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) nutrition standards? And what barriers and policy solutions exist to full implementation of these standards? Results from a statewide survey completed by over 650 licensed childcare providers in California provide insight into the current meal environment for young children and how this compares to previous surveys in 2008 and 2012 as well as to anticipated changes in the CACFP meal patterns. Come learn about what child care providers are serving now and how you can support them in meeting the new meal pattern!

State agencies and sponsoring organizations are faced with making tough decisions every day. Today you will make the decisions. The primary purpose of this session will be to review real life scenarios, considering Program regulation, policies and procedures, evaluating the aggravating and mitigating factors and deciding if the noncompliance is serious deficiency.

How to Prepare Creditable Meals in CACFP: New Tools and Resources

This session is designed to help Child and Adult Food Program (CACFP) operators discover the USDA resources available to help them not only purchase the correct amount of food but also to determine the contribution each food makes toward the CACFP meal pattern requirements. USDA will provide an overview of essential Team Nutrition crediting resources for the CACFP, including the recently released interactive online Food Buying Guide for Child Nutrition Programs and Recipe Analysis Workbook. These resources help program operators successfully plan, prepare, and serve nourishing and creditable meals in the CACFP. Newly released USDA standardized recipes for child care audiences will also be highlighted and explored. Bring your smart phones and/or tablets to engage in interactive hands-on learning activities.
